

Modern Languages

Special Points of Interest

- MLLL, in conjunction with OU's distinguished literary review, World Literature Today, sponsors the Puterbaugh Conferences, a highly respected biennial series that honors outstanding international writers.
- Advanced courses and seminars are offered in all major fields and periods of French, German, Spanish, and Spanish-American literature.

Department of Modern Languages and Linguistics
Physical Sciences Bldg.
780 Van Vleet Oval Rm. 206
Norman, OK 73019
Phone 405-325-6181

Website: <http://modlang.ou.edu/index.php>

Interested in Modern Languages?

About Modern Languages

The Department of Modern Languages, Literatures, and Linguistics offers a variety of courses and degree programs at the undergraduate and graduate levels in Arabic, Mandarin Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Hebrew, Russian, Spanish and Linguistics. The general program of study includes courses in grammar, conversation, composition, reading, culture and civilization, literature, and history of the language. These courses are supplemented with materials available in our state-of-the-art Language Learning Center.

Modern Language Majors

- Arabic
- Chinese
- French
- German
- Italian
- Linguistics
- Russian
- Spanish

Modern Language Minors

- Arabic
- Chinese
- French
- German
- Hebrew
- Italian
- Japanese
- Linguistics
- Medieval and Renaissance Studies
- Russian
- Spanish

Study Abroad Opportunities

- The office of Education Abroad is responsible for sending outgoing students abroad and receiving incoming short-term exchange students from partner universities around the world. Each of our advisors is responsible for a variety of countries, working with both the incoming and outgoing students for those regions.
- The office is responsible for advising students about a wide variety of programs such as reciprocal exchanges, direct enrollment, faculty-led, OU in Arezzo and approved provider programs. Semester and year-long programs are an option, as are short-term and summer programs.
- All OU students are encouraged to explore the possibilities for study abroad. We especially hope that first-year students will consider studying abroad their first summer with a Journey program!

Modern Languages Curriculum

The Department of Modern Languages, Literatures, and Linguistics offers a variety of courses and degree programs at the undergraduate and graduate levels in Arabic, Mandarin Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Hebrew, Russian, Spanish and Linguistics. The general programs of study include courses in grammar, conversation, composition, reading, culture and civilization, literature, and history of the language. These courses are supplemented with materials available in our state-of-the-art Language Learning Center.