Allan Arkush is Professor of Judaic Studies and History at Binghamton University. He is the author of Moses Mendelssohn and the Enlightenment and translator of Mendelssohn’s philosophical classic Jerusalem, as well as translator and editor of three other books. His numerous essays on modern Jewish thought and Zionism have appeared in Modern Judaism, Jewish Social Studies, Jewish Quarterly Review, Jewish History, Polity, and in other journals and multi-authored volumes. From 2006-2009, he was Editor of AJS Perspectives, the magazine of the Association for Jewish Studies, and since 2009, he is the Senior Contributing Editor of the Jewish Review of Books. For the past two academic years he has been Visiting Fellow at Princeton University in the Judaic Studies Program and the Department of Religion.